Declaration:

- I have submitted a complete application for admission to a degree programme of the University of King's College, including application form, fee and an official transcript of my high school marks to date.

(If available, standardized test results – e.g. SAT scores and particularly your relative standing in your class are of assistance to the Scholarship Committee in assessing your application.)

- I have asked two persons to act as references for me, and I have provided them with the appropriate reference forms and requested that they send the completed forms directly to the University of King's College.

- I have submitted a sample of my written work in the form of an essay written for a senior-level high school class; this essay has been signed and dated by a high school official.

5. The Scholarship Committee will look for some definite quality of distinction, whether of intellect, character, or both. In addition to your evaluation of specific points in numbers 3 and 4 above, the Committee would appreciate a frank statement in your own words. Details are often more helpful than generalizations; please take as much space as you require, using an extra sheet if necessary, to tell us everything you think we should know about the applicant.

Please do not hesitate to write of the applicant's limitations as well as strong points. A critical appraisal will add to rather than detract from the usefulness of your statement, since scholarship committees tend naturally to be dubious of recommendations, which imply that an applicant has no limitations whatever.
